

BUSINESS MEN AT THE WEBER CLUB

Get-Together Meeting Proves a Great Success and Good Results Are Predicted—Three-Minute Talks by Leading Citizens of the Community—How Ogden Is to Enjoy Greater Prosperity.

Fifty representative business men of Ogden met at the Weber club last evening, rubbed elbows, partook of a delicious dinner and boosted the city in short talks.

In addition to telling in their addresses just what Ogden has that makes it a good city, several live wire suggestions were made as to how to make it a better city.

Governor William Spry was the guest of honor and he struck a popular chord when he commended the commissioners and the Weber club for the part they had played in settling the South Fork reservoir controversy. His reference to the happy ending of that difficulty met with applause from all present.

The condition of the various streets in the city was another subject which came in for attention in the addresses of three of the speakers and it was the general sentiment that good city roads should be one of the objects of concerted boosting on the part of the citizens.

H. M. Rowe, president of the Weber club, was the toastmaster and he served efficiently in that capacity. In brief, he outlined "Our Aim" by stating that it is the policy of the Weber club to let the world know that near Ogden is the best fruit land in the world; that the county is a rich agricultural district; that Ogden is the center of the canning industry; that the railroad pay roll in Ogden is two and one-half millions of dollars annually and that Ogden canyon is one of the most beautiful gorges in the world.

W. E. Sanderson struck a keynote when he urged that all citizens of the city "get together." The "get together" spirit must be aroused, he said, before great things can be done in any city. Declaring that the Weber club offers every business man an opportunity to absorb that spirit, he urged that committee men of the club call on those merchants who have not united with the organization and convince them by an abundance of data that it is to their advantage to join.

"Quintyquikkin" was the toast responded to by C. A. Wright. The people of Ogden must become boosters before outsiders can be convinced of the desirability of this city, was the substance of his speech. He declared that there are enough solid facts concerning Ogden to convert outsiders without relying on enthusiasm alone. He illustrated the point by relating the story of a bootblack in Los Angeles who was so imbued with the spirit of boost that he told his customers the town was so good he wore out a cash register every three weeks.

Governor Spry prefaced his remarks by stating that there is an intangible spirit in Ogden that he experiences upon his visits and that he knew by experience that there is never an Ogdenite who will permit anyone to say a derogatory word about the city without being called to account.

Mentioning the canyon, the fruit, the canneries and other features of Ogden, he listed water as one of the resources and declared that the commission and committee did a most commendable thing when they assured the city and county of an inexhaustible supply of water.

The governor declared that Brigham Young proved himself to be the original booster for Utah when he urged, "We must produce markets at home." He urged that home industries be patronized, but he stated that business principles must prevail and that it is not business to pay more to get Utah goods when the products of other manufacturers can be more cheaply purchased.

Declaring that if Utah advertised for settlers, not by any false irrigation schemes or other tricks sometimes practiced, that the state will grow, despite the excessive freight rates that have hindered the development of the intermountain country.

In conclusion, he urged that the commercial clubs of the state take the work of inducing the boys and girls of Utah to remain in their own state and not give to some other community the benefits of their brains or muscles.

Wholesale Unity.

George Goddard was introduced by the toastmaster as one of our younger successful manufacturers and he responded to the toast, "Wholesale Unity." Stating that although he had been in business in Ogden only a year, that time is long enough, he said, to convince him that he made no mistake in coming to this city. He pointed out the advantages that would result when all business men of the city become acquainted with each other and he urged that other meetings similar to the one of last evening be held when the purpose of the gathering shall be to introduce the business men of the city to each other.

Commissioner Nye Witty.

Commissioner J. C. Nye spoke on "Ogden, the City." He congratulated the Weber club upon conducting such a meeting, stating that acquaintance begets friendship and friendship brings confidence and that confidence is what every city needs.

He referred wittily to the complaints that come in concerning the streets and said that in one way the bad streets proved that Ogden is growing because in many instances the bumps in the road are made by the plumbers who excavate to place pipes for the numerous houses and buildings that are being erected in the city.

A. R. Heywood Speaks.

A. R. Heywood stated that no matter what is going on in California, every person who comes to Utah is sure of a square deal. Urging that the boosters should get behind one idea at a time and boost it to a successful conclusion, he stated that a joint city and county building is one thing that should be pushed along. When he asked why it is that there is no Southern Pacific city ticket office since the order of dissolution was partially obeyed, President Rowe assured the speaker that the subject had been taken up with the railroads and that results may be expected at any moment.

His remarks that Salt Lake waited until some wealthy Utah Pacific stockholder died and the inheritance tax was collected before improvements were commenced, brought a good laugh from the diners. In conclusion, he urged that a broad minded policy be followed to prevent the city from becoming a one-idea town.

Suggestions by J. T. Hurst.

J. T. Hurst, in his address, "Why Not Boost," referred in a humorous manner to some of the failings of the city that are known to all and suggested that it would be good advertising to erect a welcome arch on Twenty-fifth street near the depot. He was assured by Dr. Rowe that such a project had been planned and would be started after the white way and similar projects had been successfully concluded.

Urges Compromise.

Ralph Bristol suggested that "Stick Together" is perhaps an appropriate subject for a cement man. He stated that almost every subject had been covered by the speakers before him, but his suggestions were that the spirit of compromise should exist when public questions are before the people. Only by compromise, he stated, can the really great work go on. He urged the minority to gracefully yield when their failure to do so will prevent some public improvement from going on to a successful conclusion.

Our Ideals.

"Our Ideals," said the Rev. W. W. Fleetwood "Are first, a greater Ogden, second a cleaner Ogden and third, a united Ogden."

He pointed out the difference between boosting and boasting by stating that the booster points with pride to what has been done while the booster turns his eyes to the front and strives to do something that will eclipse the results of the past.

A clean city he said is not clean merely because the streets are flushed daily and the back yards are raked and swept, but that a city is clean in the same sense that we say a man is clean. He said that no lasting good can result to a city that depends for prosperity upon the revenues accruing from vice.

He stated that the third ideal of a united Ogden is in a fair way to being realized and he rejoiced that bickerings over religion are a thing of the past. He stated, humorously, that few of us have enough religion to fight about and those that do have sufficient religion do not fight.

Music by Quartette.

Music throughout the evening was furnished by a quartette composed of Carl Allison, Jed Ballantyne, Leo Madson and George Douglass. The songs were, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," "Sighing for You," and "Love's Old Sweet Song." All were applauded.

President H. M. Rowe, in introducing the singers, paid an excellent tribute to the Tabernacle choir. He stated that the members of the quartette are members of the Ogden Tabernacle choir, one of the two best choirs in the world. The statement was greeted with applause.

Mayor A. G. Fell could not be present but he sent a communication that was read by Secretary J. D. Larson of the Publicity bureau, calling attention to the conditions in the city streets and urging that good streets be one of the objects of concerted boosting. The reading of the letter, which follows, brought forth applause:

Mayor's Message.

"Secretary Ogden Publicity Bureau, Dear Sir—Replying to yours of the 22nd inst just received. Regret that I will be unable to be with you tonight owing to prior engagement.

"I am a firm believer in boosting for your own town. At the same time, unless sustained by business action, falls flat. The idea of getting together is a good, but you must do more than talk.

"In this connection I want to ask you what any one thing could do more to improve and advertise our city than good streets? We can boast of some of the worst roads in the state, almost in the very center of the city. You will pardon me if I suggest mildly that this condition is not a creation of the commission form of government. The dirt streets, particularly, have been patched up from time for time, no permanent improvement having been made. This condition prevails today for the reason that some of our leading citizens and large property owners object to paving the streets because of the cost. The result is that the jurisdiction of the city is not maintained and improvements cannot be obtained, and the endless chain of patch work goes on.

"What we need is a larger membership in the ranks of our progressive citizens—members who will put forth their best efforts to secure permanent improvements, and thereby boost the real earnest for the most advantageous located city in the state."

The secretary and directors of the publicity bureau were congratulated upon the success of the meeting which was held under the auspices of the bureau.

Resolutions Adopted.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by those present at the meeting:

"Resolved, that we, the business men of Ogden, resolve to work for greater unity and closer harmony in city development;

"That we forget any petty grievances of the past and work together for a larger and more prosperous city;

"That we believe in the great possibilities of the city and will tell about them to somebody every day in the year;

"That we use every effort to stop knocking and every other pessimistic expression about Ogden or her future;

"That we make a bid for optimism by expressing only that which is good and noble concerning the city and the state;

"That we favor public improvements, better streets, better sidewalks and better public buildings and will work for them; and

"Finally that we resolve for greater unity, realizing that through unity wonders may be accomplished for greater city development and mutual prosperity."

Those Present.

Those present were: H. W. Peery, A. Stevens, Ralph E. Bristol, Seth Griffin, P. T. Wright, C. A. Wright, Hyrum Pingree, W. P. Monson, Ezra Richardson, J. S. Campbell, John Hurst, J. W. Abbott, J. C. Nye, J. W. Forristall, Claude Ives, O. D. Cassman, W. D. Brown, R. McIntyre, Frank Francis, N. O. Ogden, John M. Mills, A. M. Miller, Henry Rosenbluth, Paul Beemer, H. M. Rowe, J. D. Larson, Governor William Spry, J. J. Brummitt, George Goddard, G. W. Porterfield, B. O. Olson, W. W. Fleetwood, W. E. Sanderson, Robert Moyer, W. T. Brown, T. S. Browning, J. C. Hunter, W. W. Wedell, A. R. Heywood, J. C. Carver, Charles R. Hollingsworth, Senator G. A. Kelly, J. Jensen, LeRoy Buchmiller, Morris Flowers and Ralph Hoag.

—oo—

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Society

W. C. T. U. HONORED GUESTS

Mrs. Grier, 1550 Robinson avenue, will be hostess to the W. C. T. U. ladies and their friends, Tuesday afternoon, April 23, at 2:30 o'clock, when a parlor meeting will be held at her home.

Mrs. Norine Law, author, lecturer and vocalist, and Mrs. Lulu Shephard, state president of the W. C. T. U., will be guests of honor.

Mrs. Law will give a short talk on the white slavery question and will also render several vocal selections. All the W. C. T. U. ladies and their friends are urged to be present.

MRS. WM. ECCLES IN OREGON.

Mrs. William Eccles is spending a short time with friends and relatives in Oregon.

GOES TO DENVER.

Mrs. D. C. Eccles left last Wednesday for Denver, Colo., where she will visit for about two months.

FROM POCATELLO.

Mrs. J. T. Young of Pocatello is in Ogden for a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Mitchell.

CALIFORNIA VISITORS.

Harry Lublin, Roy Young and Richard Tucker are enjoying a pleasant visit to California cities and points of interest.

FROM WYOMING.

Mr. A. Seldsch of Rock Springs, Wyo., and Mrs. David Schwartz of Green River are Ogden visitors, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Cohen, 255 27th street. They will spend about two weeks in this city.

NICK FLEMING LEAVES.

Nick Fleming, the well known railway mail clerk of this city, has been transferred from the Ogden-San Francisco trip, to work between San Francisco and Barstow, Cal. His many friends regret his absence from this city.

APRIL TEA A SUCCESS.

The April tea given by the social board of the First Presbyterian church on Thursday of this week at the home of Mrs. A. I. Barber, with Mrs. Thompson Corn, Mrs. R. M. Robinson and A. D. Barber as hostesses was a decided success and a large company enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon.

MR. HINCHCLIFF'S RECITAL.

In musical circles the forthcoming concert of Mr. Lester Hinchcliffe is anticipated as one of the pleasantest and most important local musical affairs of the season.

Mr. Hinchcliffe has reached a high standard of proficiency as the quality of his program attests. Ogden will be proud to welcome one more of its gifted sons into its musical life.

Mr. Squire Coop, from whom Mr. Hinchcliffe has received his musical education, is proud of his pupil's attainments and predicts for him an active and successful career in the musical profession.

In addition to the program already published in these columns Mr. Melvin Peterson of Salt Lake City will render the prologue from the opera of "Pagliacci."

The recital is complimentary and an invitation is cordially extended to all.

Monday evening the following program will be rendered:

Concerto No. 5 Beethoven
(a) Recordati Gottschalk
(b) Song Without Words—Duet Mendelssohn
(c) Nocturne Chopin
(d) Etude "Butterfly" Chopin
(e) Rhapsodie Hongroise Liszt
(f) March Militaire Schubert-Tousig

AFTERNOON TEA.

One of the pretty affairs of the week was given yesterday afternoon when Mrs. J. T. Ellis delightfully entertained a number of Ogden's social set at her home, 2500 Jackson avenue, in honor of Mrs. Merrill Nibley and Miss Louise Holt of Salt Lake City and Mrs. Herman Uhllein of Milwaukee.

About 100 guests, including a number from Salt Lake and Logan were present. Invitations being issued to over 150 ladies.

From 2 o'clock until 5 a pretty appointed luncheon was served, the tables being beautifully decorated with carnations and small dainty cards designated the places for each guest.

Throughout the Ellis home peach blossoms were effectively arranged and added both beauty and fragrance to the brilliancy of the affair.

During the afternoon solos were sung by the Misses Marion Browning and Elsie Shorten and Mrs. Uhllein of Milwaukee gave several songs in a most charming manner.

—oo—

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Look at the Suits we show at $25.00 they're the greatest values ever offered, and at the price you can afford to pay.

You may as well have clothes that will keep their shape wherever you wear them. If you buy clothes, that's the kind you'll get. They're here; all wool weaves, tailored-to-fit, the smartest styles in the world, in just the color and pattern you'll like. Sizes to 48.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

While we call your particular attention to our $25 line—we'd like have you know that we have others at more or less.

Wrights'

MRS. LAW IS TO SPEAK IN OGDEN

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

Read the Classified Ads.

</